MILSA inbound

A two-day social program for international degree-seeking MA and PhD students at the University of Bern

Are you newly enrolled at the University of Bern, interested in meeting other students and learning about your new cultural environment?

MILSA inbound is a two-day social program for international degree-seeking students:

Join the program for:

- Meeting other students and building your social network in Bern
- Learning about the University of Bern
- Getting tips and tricks about intercultural learning in Switzerland

An average knowledge of English is required as the program is taught in English.
